25th LOOKING BACK . . .

Anniversary

The 1969 Driftwood staff (below) stands beneath the wooden dolphin which long stood as the school's mascot. After the disappearance of that structure the class of 1978 erected a brick and marble monument in its place.

ON D-Y'S PAST

The Nautilus first appeared in 1958 as a replacement for Yarmouth High School's The Green Wave. This publication marked the move to D-Y High. Among the twenty-six faculty members manning the new school were Mr. Alan Carlsen, Mr. Merrill Wilson and yearbook dedicatee Mr. Stan Daggett. It was a time for looking forward. With this twenty-fifth publication, it is a time for looking back.

25th Anniversary

THINGS DO CHANGE

D-Y's physical plant has grown and changed since 1958. The busport hasn't changed but the cars have. This 1963 shot (above) reveals the student "mobiles" of the times. Ms. Marsha McGuinness (right), a member of the special needs department, is representative of the enlarged and changed curriculum.

Change is marked by many things. D-Y cheerleading has reflected the styles and attitudes of each decade.

The 1956 cheerleaders of Yarmouth High (above) "displayed their school spirit so that not only the players, but the fans were stimulated." With enthusiasm like this there was no fear of over-stimulation.

Senior members of the 1963 cheerleading squad (right) strike a coquettish pose in their Peter Pan collared blouses with full wool skirts and matching wool jackets.

Girls weren't always equal as evidenced by the 1961 softball team (far right). The first girls' team was fielded in 1960 with a 7-1 record. Their first game against neighbor Harwich was a resounding 33-6 victory. Unfortunately the girls waited until 1962 for uniforms.

1967 D-Y alumnus Mr. Rick Carleton returned to his alma mater as a social studies teacher as well as a coach in soccer and baseball. His high school career was as active as his teaching and coaching now is. Included in his activities were soccer 2, 3 co-captain 4; Basketball 2, 3, 4; Baseball 2, 3 co-captain 4; Jr. Variety Show 2; Key Club 2, 3 president 4; Boy's State 3; Class President 2, 4.

TUG TEST

Old traditions end while new ones begin. A new activity added to D-Y's traditional homecoming was a tug-of-war between the classes. The handicapping of the older classes may have stacked the decks too high as the freshmen walked away with all the honors.

HOMECOMING HAPPENS

Homecoming has seen many changes in recent years. The advent of ID checks at dances has eliminated alumni from the festivities. The class of 1977 initiated the addition of a king to the court. President Bob Sullivan seized the first reign. 1981 marked the end of the parade from D-Y to Angelo's parking lot for a night rally. Replacing that schedule was an in-school rally Friday afternoon with a Saturday morning "spirit convoy" from John Simpkins to D-Y to kick off the football game. Another '81 addition was the tug-of-war on Friday after school. Filling out the increasing agenda was the inclusion of the homecoming floats in the annual Seaside Festival parade on Sunday afternoon.

"The Little Engine That Could" (below left) was the freshmen float offering. Unfortunately the engine couldn't win the competition.

Rally around your candidate

Twenty-five seniors were nominated by their club, team or organization to represent them in the King and Queen elections. Nominated by the Interact Club, King Bill Siegel had the enviable task of sharing the throne with two queens, Martha Cantwell and Daphne Wynne. Other court members were Sheila Gagnon, Erica Hague, George Soares, Doug Martin and Bill Darling. 1981 marked the fourth homecoming that the entire school population voted for the regal choice, a privilege previously reserved for seniors.

PATRIOTS SET PACE

With a field of thirty-two teams the annual Thanksgiving volleyball tournament took two days to complete. Playing single elimination, two out of three eleven point games, students and faculty poured in the gyms Tuesday afternoon, November 27th. After hours of play a champion was still not crowned so Wednesday morning before school the Jumbos were defeated by Patriot team members Chris Collias, Billy Johnson, Dennis Kouvaris and Jim Lavin.

RALLIES RATE

Rallies rate for different reasons to different students. Looking back, spirit and rallies were passé in the seventies but first year principal Mr. Dan Nicholson reinstituted them. Since that time rallies have been a way of D-Y life. Students look forward to them to yell, to throw confetti, to miss class or to win the spirit contest. Coaches and players hope for a win, pepleaders cheer, majorettes twirl, band members play and teachers relax. Everyone rallies around the school.

DIFFERENT DAYS

Some days just don't run smoothly. Representatives of those different days are underclassmen picture day, eye and ear testing days and ring day. On Tuesday, November 17, O'Connor School Pictures invaded the auditorium and the intercom to steal students from their classrooms. Meanwhile Mr. Ed Lilley, official yearbook photographer, added to the chaos by taking group and candid shots.

As part of a yearly screening program, volunteer Mary Amorosi (below) takes the blood pressure of a D-Y student. Volunteers handle almost 1000 of the students. The remainder are completed by nurse Janet Inkley. Mrs. Inkley also goes to each physical education class to screen ninth and tenth graders for scoliosis.

Deanne Hodsdon (far below) raises her hand in response to the tones of the audiometer. Annual eye and ear screening is mandated by state law. In addition D-Y records the height and weight of each student.

A ring finds its way on a sophomore finger (bottom). Students "look back" to the ring as a reminder of their days at D-Y.

An unusual trio of days in October occurred when an accreditation team from New England Schools and Colleges arrived on D-Y's doorstep. Meetings and observations were the order of the days, all with a favorable conclusion. In addition to picture days, classroom chaos appears in April during arena scheduling. Mrs. Helena Haggerty and Mrs. Renee Skala frequent the airways with instant dismissals. Add to these days bloodmobiles, ring sales, ring deliveries and spirit days for an interesting blend of activities.

SPIRIT SOARS

Spirit Week is a new tradition at D-Y. Just when the winter doldrums are upon us the student council sponsors a now annual week-long celebration. Starting the five days are tag days, Monday for the boys and Tuesday for the girls. Wednesday sees the classrooms and the offices taken over by student replacements. Following a sale, Thursday is the day to work any slaves purchased. The week is topped off by a pin and hat day with a rally as a finale. This year the rally featured a pie throwing contest allowing lucky students and teachers to smash a whipped topping creation into their chosen target's face.

SLAVES SELL

The red flag went up and on the auction block Tuesday, February 9 were several consenting students. As part of spirit week the student council arranged the sale which culminated in a slave day two days later. Faculty auctioneer Mr. Bob "Tex" Lavery accepted bids ranging from a quarter to seven dollars, the most desirable slave being senior Doug Martin.

Bidding was heavy for junior Reggie Lopes (below right) who wears an unidentified girl's tag.

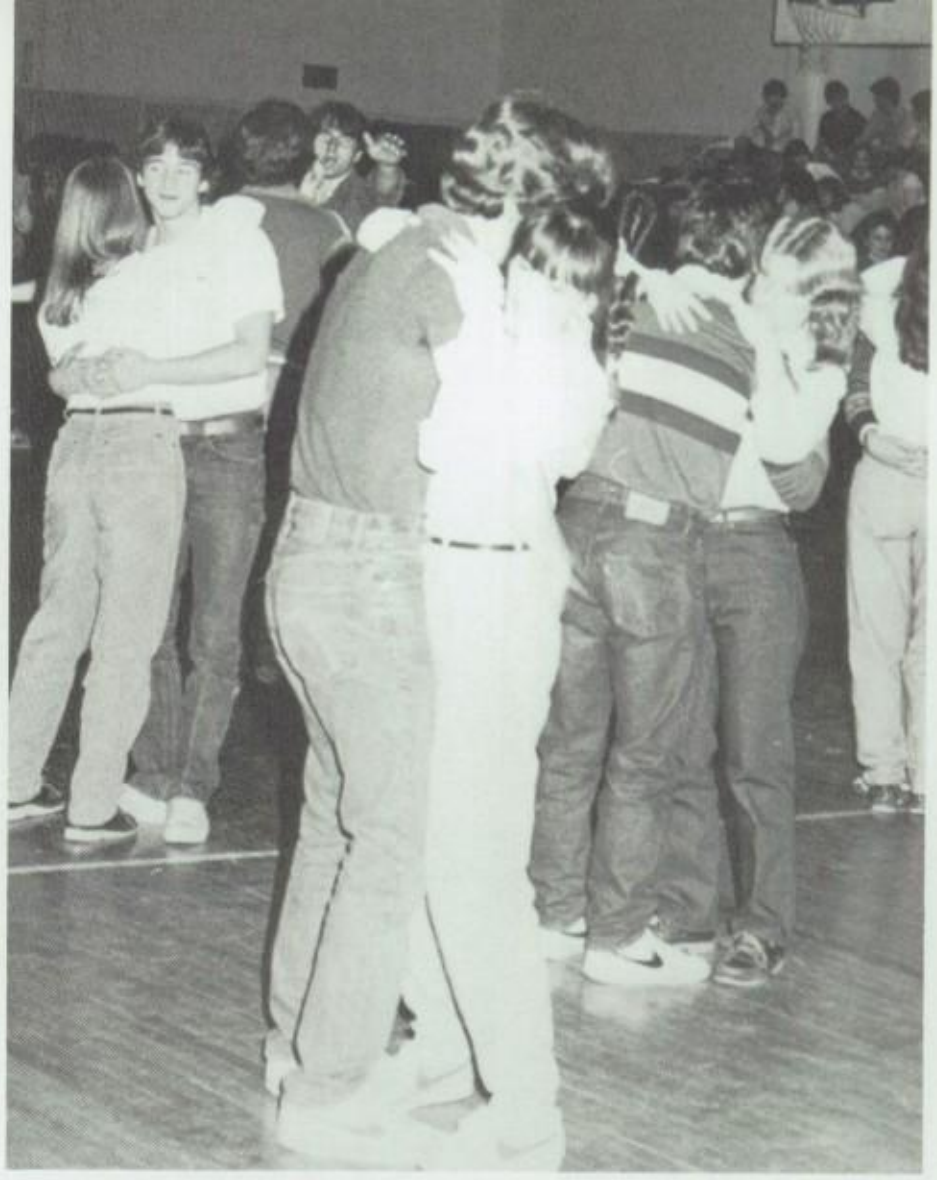
There aren't always enough men to go around, so Rosemary Walsh, Liz Truella, a friend, and Connie Ripley (bottom) dance together as Tony Maines passes behind.



DANCES DIFFER

From the mad hatter homecoming dance to the junior and senior proms, from disco to punk, from live music to records each dance differed. Among the successful groups vying for the opportunity to hold one of these financially rewarding events were each of the four classes, the Basketball Boosters, The Student Council, the Quarterback Club, and the yearbook/majorettes.

The varsity basketball team tapped off against a motley crew of faculty members and friends as a thank you for their recent season. The March 11th event left the faculty team's muscles and egos hurting.

PIRATES PLAY

Gilbert and Sullivan graced the D-Y stage in the form of "The Pirates of Penzance" on March 26, 27, April 1, 2, and 3 with a special preview performance for senior citizens on the 25th. Directed by John Kelly, the production involved over one hundred students and faculty members. This was Mr. Kelly's D-Y debut as director. He replaces Mr. Peter Morgan who previously directed "Pippin", "Camelot" and "Caberet." Staffing with Mr. Kelly is Ms. Cynthia Hamlin as Music Director and Ms. Elizabeth Kelly, Mr. Kelly's wife, as vocal coach.

JUNIORS OPEN ARMS

May 21st marked the magic night for the juniors to prom the night away. The Osterville Room at Dunfey's Hyannis was filled for an 8:00 meal of boneless breast of chicken or roast top sirloin of beef. Journey provided the source for the prom theme "Open Arms" while the evening. Court members (above) included George Soares, Pam Keefe, Colleen King, Dave MacKay, Carolyn Siegel, Brian Griffin, Mary Ellen Clark, Jim Manning, Donna Andrews, Jack Lucido, Maureen Kurtowicz and Steve Bohane.

SENIORS SWING

Just ten days after the junior prom the senior class came together for their annual formal. Moving the location to the Wychmere Harbor Club in Harwich Port was a break from the usual Dunfey's site. Also a first was hosting the function on the holiday night, Monday, May 31. Seniors did receive the traditional expensive offering of roast prime rib of beef or baked stuffed shrimp. With music by Snow White the seniors danced to their theme "Oh Very Young" and watched the coronation of queen Bonnie Iadarola.

One of many talented seniors, Laurel Bowman (right) sings an original composition entitled "Heart at Home." She was accompanied by other talented seniors Sally Jaffe, Craig MacLaughlin, Val Anastasio, who played piano and sang back up, Tom Along, who wrote the french horn parts for himself and Miss Cynthia Hamlin.

CLASS ASSEMBLES

Thursday afternoon of senior week is a sentimental and reflective time. The senior class joins with the rest of the school to celebrate their past four years at D-Y in many and varied ways. Highlights included a comprehensive class history by secretary Pam Carter, the presentation of a nine foot, 2200 pound jumbo dolphin to the school by treasurer Kelley Sullivan, a senior send-off by junior class president Chris Collias and the 1982 class farewell by Bill Siegel, senior class president.

SUPER SENIORS

A highlight of the last assembly is the announcement of the senior superlatives. Voting on thirty categories, the seniors relish this election. Pam Carter, senior class secretary, created presentation pieces for each of the recipients. Doing the honors at the assembly were class marshalls Carol Butler and Reggie Lopes.

Many responsibilities fall upon the shoulders of the senior class president. In that capacity Billy Siegel (left) welcomes everyone to the Baccalaureate and Award Assembly with a reading of the poem "Time."

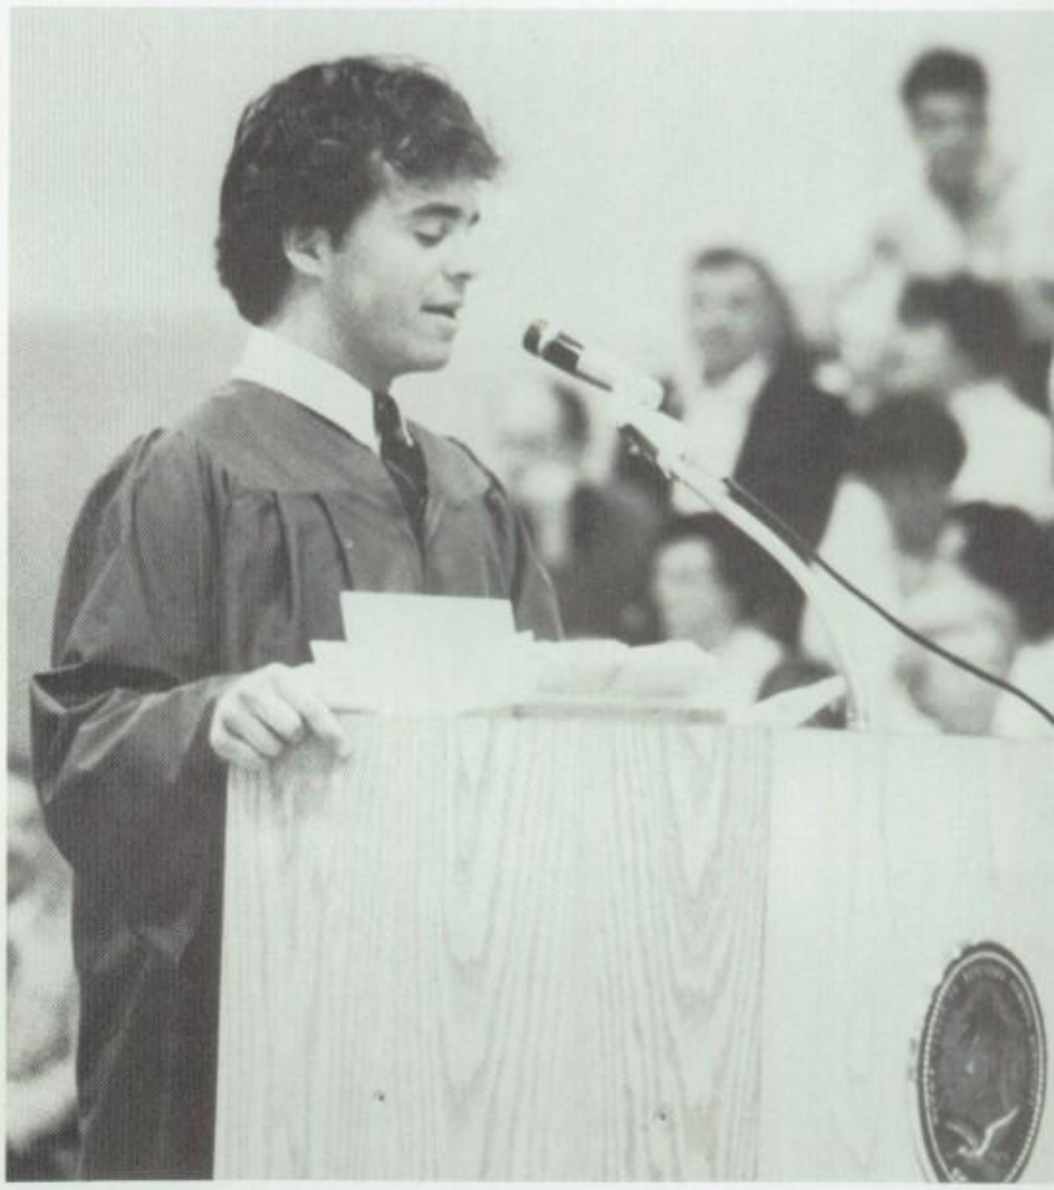
School committee chairperson Creeden, Principal Nicholson and Superintendent Killory (below right) join together to present books to the twenty highest ranking graduates in recognition of their scholastic achievements.



BACCALAUREATE HONORS

The present Baccalaureate and Award Assembly is the result of combining two events out of D-Y's past. Carrying out the Baccalaureate segment of the ceremony was Rev. Harold F. Cooper of the West Yarmouth Congregational Church who delivered the evening's baccalaureate message and benediction. For the purpose of streamlining an often lengthy night, the '82 program eliminated the student-offered scriptures, prayer and appreciation. The remainder of the June third activity centered around the considerable presentation of awards and scholarships.

The class of 1982 (below) becomes the third class to graduate at the Cape Cod Coliseum. This year the class was elevated on a flower-lined stage with curtains and date as a backdrop.

'82 EXITS

Commencement ceremonies have seen many locations over the history of D-Y, from the auditorium to the gymnasium to the front parking lot to the football field and finally to the Cape Cod Coliseum. Controversy has finally died over the return to an indoor program after so many fresh air years. With this third graduation at the Coliseum many aesthetic improvements were made to make the Sunday afternoon exercises memorable for all.

Second year industrial arts teacher Scott Cleaves (above) was pictured in the 1969 Nautilus. That year Dr. Wallace "Doc" Johnson was principal, Mr. Merrill "Red" Wilson received the yearbook dedication and Mr. Joe Aldridge and Mr. Ed York received the yearbook acknowledgements. All five teachers are still at D-Y fourteen years later.

Absences and tardies are now handled by the school's computer. Clerk/typist Lorraine Hamilton signs in Shawn Gonsalves (top) in the attendance office.

The business wing was taken over by the English department when the new wing was built. Ms. Kim Conner (above) teaches a Typing I class as Martina Maranda listens.

SCIENCE SUCCESS

Heading the eleven member science department since 1967, Mr. Ed York oversees the curriculum in which over one thousand students are enrolled. Although only one course is required for graduation (this requirement is increasing to two with the class of 1985) ten different preparations are offered at varying scholastic levels. The department acquired three new facilities with the opening of the new additions but lost two faculty members this year when Miss Anita Stanley and Mr. Don Bell retired from teaching.

ART ACTIVE

Art classes found enlarged and expanded facilities in the new wing they share with the remainder of the related arts. There is always a bustle of varied activity in the area, making it a mecca for talented people.

Ms. Diane Piette (below) offers her assistance to basket weaver Diane Cassella.

GUIDANCE GIVES

With support from a clerical staff of three, counselors Anastasia, Rubino, Salamone, Thompson and White guide students through their years at D-Y and on to a future course. The five provide personal counseling, educational and career counseling, consultation, appraisal, referral, and crisis intervention. In addition the guidance quintet run a college night for parents, senior orientations, junior career conferences and contribute to All Cape College Day.

LIBRARY LENDS

Boasting an inventory of over 20,000 volumes ranging from fiction to foreign language encyclopedias, the D-Y library services between 200 to 700 students daily. Staffed by librarians Baker and Johnson, instruction is provided formally or informally with individual instruction given as needed. Originally located over the main entrance to the school, the big move was made when the new addition opened, which allows for storage of the extensive periodical collection and impressive collection of Cape Cod history books.

NEEDS FULFILLED

What was once D-Y's wood shop is now the home of an active special needs program. Working with different students, Mr. Jim Hoar and Mr. Peter Martin spend much of their time in the area. The two teachers often group their students together and take field trips to places such as Cape Cod Tech every month for haircuts in the cosmetology department, the Museum of Natural History and Bassett's Wild Animal Farm in Brewster, and the Cape Cod Potato Chip Factory. Other trips and activities include weekly bowling, swimming, and horseback riding. Mr. Martin camps out once a year at Nickerson State Park for three days and two nights. Mr. Hoar accompanies his group to do the weekly food shopping every Monday thus furnishing the supplies for foods teacher Mrs. Mercer. The groups also go Christmas shopping together, then wrap all their gifts in school. All of these activities give the special needs students a sense of responsibility and worth that they so very much need and enjoy.

Helping to share the load, Mrs. Kay Norton (below), Mr. Martin's aide, lends a hand in teaching Michael Rogers, as Mary Beth Fay and Kathy Pearson work and watch.

SCHOOL STORIES

The school store opened for business the year D-Y was founded. Originally run by the Code Club, a service organization sponsored by the Rotary Club, the store was open from 2:30 to 3:30 each day. Not only were the usual supplies sold, but also sodas, frappes, milk shakes, ice cream cones and sundaes. The school store has since changed its stock and its location many times. In its fifth spot, the store is now open only during lunch periods and is staffed by six to ten students.

Among the most popular store items are pencils, pens, D-Y notebooks, locks, jackets and sweatshirts. Bob Dillard and Stephen Dupuis (above) are among the students who run the store.

CAFETERIA CRUSH

Each school day fifteen cafeteria workers put together the components of D-Y's food program. Serving over 800 students daily, Mrs. Eileen Dodge and food coordinator Ms. Sharon Craig plan the menus. Cereal, muffins, juice, coffee, tea, milk and hot chocolate are served during the hour long breakfast program, while hot and cold lunches are served later. With a new backed-up lunch schedule, first lunchers are able to eat at 11:14 rather than 10:24.

Crowds converge on the cafeteria (top left) not just for eating but, more importantly, for socializing.

CLASSROOM CAPERS

Within the nine academic departments D-Y offers over one hundred and eighty courses, many of which have varied levels. Yearly, students are required to take a minimum of five major subjects, and to accumulate twenty units of credit in order to graduate. Speech and Health must be included within those credits. Grades are weighted on the basis of course level in order to provide a more realistic view of class rank.

Don Florio, Mike Haberl, Cheryl Klock, Suzanne Michalski and Yvonne Quinn (top right) are all business in their Typing I class.

ROGOVIN'S RUNNERS

The 1981 boys cross country team battled back from three consecutive defeats in their first three matches to win six out of the next seven encounters on the way to a satisfying 6-4 season. Under first year coach Andy Rogovin, who took over for long time mentor Mr. Alan Carlsen, the harriers matched last year's record and had decent showings in the SMC All-Conference Meet (7th out of 21 teams), the State Coaches Invitational - Division III (10th out of 23 teams), and the Catholic Memorial Invitational - Division II (11th out of 25 teams).

The squad was led by senior Sean Burke who qualified for the All-State meet by being one of the first five finishers on a non-qualifying team. Seniors Rich and Jim St. Onge also ran well for Coach Rogovin. However the mainstay of the squad had to be Ken Coyne who was the top D-Y finisher in virtually every race and won four races on his own. His best time was 14:44 in a meet against New Bedford Voke held at the Bass River golf Course. Ken and fellow junior letter winners Barry Ahearn, Ken Andrews, Doug Bacon, Peter Generis and Sean Sheehan constitute a solid lineup for next year's squad.

The fall of 1981 found the girls cross country team on their own for the first time in the history of D-Y. Girls had previously competed in cross country only in conjunction with the boy's squad. Under first year coach, Mr. Jim Hoar, the girls raced to an excellent 7-2 record. One of the two losses was the team's first meet, a one point loss to Dartmouth. The only other loss was to perennial powerhouse Falmouth. The squad was co-captained by Bridget Snell and Katie Dolan, both senior letter winners. Other recipients of letters include seniors Martha Cantwell, Alice Curley, Erica Hague and Debby Hurd; juniors Mary Deluga and Melissa Holmes; sophomores Tara Horgan and Vivian Martinez; and freshman Maura Conley. The squad also placed ninth in the Catholic Memorial Invitational (Div. I), sixth place in the S.M.C. League Meet, and thirteenth place in the EMass Class Championships (Div. II). All in all it was a very successful rookie season for Coach Hoar and his cross country girls.

The 1981 girls field hockey enjoyed another very successful season under Coach Karen Baca, winning the SMC championship with a league record of 7-2-1 and an overall record of 11-3-1. Two of the losses were suffered to a tough, tournament champion, Bishop Stang squad, both by scores of 1-0, the second of those losses coming in the quarterfinals of the state tournament. The tri-captains for the team were Kit Ganshaw, Melissa Robinson, and Kelley Sullivan. Numerous awards were reaped upon the players and coach of this fine squad. Named to the SMC all star team were Kit Ganshaw, Michelle Pelletier, and unanimous selections Melissa Robinson and Coach Karen Baca. Also Melissa Robinson was named to the Boston Globe All-Scholastic second team. Melissa was also the high scorer for the team with 9 goals and 6 assists. Named by Coach Baca as MVP and best defensive player was Kit Ganshaw, Michelle Pelletier was honored with the Most Improved Senior award, Melissa Robinson received the Best Offensive Player award and the Team Spirit award went to senior Julie Warner.

It was another in a series of disappointing seasons for the D-Y football team. The squad lost the first eight games of the season, being outscored by fairly wide margins in most of the games. However, they saved their best games for the tail end of the season, losing a very hard fought battle to Somerset 3-0 before downing Notre Dame and New Bedford Voke in the final two home games of the season, the gridiron season ending on Thanksgiving Day with a convincing 6-0 victory. Individual achievements awarded to the team included tri-captain Pat Burke being named to the SMC Division II first team and the first team of the all-cape all-stars. Pat had a superlative season at his end position, corraling the passes of fellow all-cape first teammate and tri-captain, quarterback Joe Raycraft. Also joining that elite squad was tackle Reggie Lopes. Receiving honorable mention to the all-cape squad included linebackers Bryan Street and tri-captain Skip MacPhail, running back Steve Harkenrider and hard hitting defensive back George Soares.

The D-Y soccer team again came through with a winning record, compiling a record of 6 wins, 4 losses, and 2 ties. The team couldn't quite put together a sustained winning streak, but showed a lot of poise and development against tough teams as New Bedford and Barnstable. D-Y lost to both of these teams by identical 4-1 scores the first time around, but battled to 1-1 and 0-0 ties the second time. Those two games, along with the heartbreaking 1-0 loss to Falmouth in the next to last game kept the team out of the state tournament, but bodes well in the maturity of next year's squad.

Coach Bob Stead, in his first year as head volley ball coach, directed his squad to a convincing 9-3 season and qualified for the state tournament. Assisted in his coaching by Mr. Bill McShane, Coach Stead saw his girls defeat the fourth seeded team in the playoffs and advance to the sectional semi-finals before they were eliminated. The squad was lead by senior letter-winners Barbara Barrows, Jane Carroll, Mary Coffey, Lorri Grayson and Constance Ripley. Both Lorri Grayson and junior Maria Hayduk were named to the division all-star team.

The squad once again had a lot of trouble with a tough Old Rochester team, losing twice to that club without winning a game. The only other club to beat the D-Y volleyball team was Wareham in an away game, a loss which D-Y revenged later in the season with an exciting come-from-behind victory.

With a long list of junior letter winners returning to action next season, along with a talented JV squad, Coach Stead is looking forward to a very strong showing in next year's competitions.

FORKER'S FORCES

Senior Eric Brown ties up an Artisan of New Bedford Voke (below right) for a jump ball as Reggie Lopes and Steve Quasha wait for a possible loose ball.

First year coach Frank Forker brought a new style of basketball to D-Y and also succeeded in bringing a winning season and packed home games back to the gymnasium. A record of 16-4 in the regular season and a berth in the state tournament were the results of excellent coaching and hard work by such players as all-SMC stars Steve Quasha, Reggie Lopes and Chris Roellke. During the regular season the team championed the Massachusetts Maritime Holiday Tournament, defeating Bourne, Falmouth, and Wareham for the coveted trophy. The squad placed second in their SMC division with a divisional record of 7-3. From there the team advanced to the quarter finals of the state tournament by defeating Abington. A strong Rockland team dashed any hopes of further advancement in the tourney by defeating D-Y by a score of 61-53. Other awards reaped upon the team members included Blair Weigand, Steve Quasha and Chris Roellke all being named "Player of the Week" by WOCB. Chris Roellke was named the Most Valuable Player at the Holiday Tournament, while he and teammate Steve Quasha were both all-tournament selections.

STEAD'S SHOOTERS

Elaine Joyce (opposite page, top left) comes down with a strong rebound against a tough Wareham squad, led by star shooter Rita Roach (#21). Moving for position in the key is D-Y's Lorri Grayson.

The D-Y girls basketball, under head coach Bob Stead, had some good news and some bad news to describe their 1981 season. The good news was that out of their sixteen game schedule the Dolphinettes only lost to four teams. The bad news was that they lost to each of these teams twice in an 8-8 season. The girl hoopsters fell to such powerhouses as Old Rochester, Wareham, New Bedford and Bishop Stang in some one-sided victories, but held their own against such rivals as Barnstable and Bourne.

The squad was led by the Hughes Newspaper Player of the Year Alison Adams. Alison was also selected to the All-SMC all-star team in this her junior year. Allison averaged 10.4 points and 10.6 rebounds per game. "We always looked to her on offense," quotes Coach Stead, who described his tri-captain as "an exemplary leader." Alison was the only junior named to the all-star squad. Three players named to the Hughes All-Stars, in addition to Alison, were Susan Hardy, Donna Andrews and Lori Mahler. As Coach Stead is losing only two seniors from his squad things can only improve for next year's court action.

It took a while for D-Y's 1981-82 gymnastics team to get their muscles stretched, but once they loosened up there was no stopping them. Unfortunately the loosening didn't occur until the girls had lost their first four matches of the season. On the bright side though were six consecutive victories to end the season on an upbeat. Two of the four losses that the squad suffered were in very close encounters with Durfee and Barnstable. But the victories were no contests at all, with D-Y winning by as much as 40.4 points against Dighton-Rehoboth and the rest of the victories by 15 or more points.

The squad was led by co-captains Kelley Sullivan and Ellen Wallace. Two other senior letter winners were Veda Stark and Joan Kelley. There were also some honors reaped upon two juniors, Kelly Sorenson and Sheila Weller. Both gymnasts were named to the League All-Star squad. Kelly scored a 5.5 on the beam in the District Individual Meet. She had placed seventh in the league competing on the beam. Sheila qualified for the Individuals in four events: Beam (6.6), bars (7.5), Vaulting (8.3), and Floor (8.05). Sheila had placed first in the league in the bars and vault and second in the floor competition.

It was a long and disappointing and sometimes controversial season for the D-Y hockey team. The team could only garner one victory in the eighteen games played, although five of those games did end in a tie. The only victory for first year coach Paul Stewart came against Somerset, a win that the opposition avenged late in the season. There were some highlights to the season that came in the form of individual honors to some of Coach Stewart's skaters. Both George Soares and Joe Raycraft were named to the Hughes Newspaper All-Star second team. The Cape Cod Times honored George Soares with their third team nomination while bestowing honorable mention on Joe Raycraft, Nick Mazzoni and Steve Mazzoni. In addition to the three senior letter winners mentioned above, Coach Stewart will also miss fellow seniors Steve Donnelly, Jim Manning, Chris Deluga, Dean Tallman, Steve Bohane, Ollie Hallett, Bruce Jasinski, Mark McDowell and manager Ricky Wittenmeyer.

Hoping to improve upon last year's 12-8 record, the D-Y Dolphin baseball team went in to the 1981 season with great expectations. However the team couldn't quite put the offense and defense together simultaneously. Consequently they could only gain a total of seven victories against twelve defeats. For head coach Bob Haff this rebuilding year was his first losing season in his four years at the helm. Pitching was probably the biggest problem that plagued the '81 Dolphins. Not one of the starting pitchers had a winning percentage with Keith Brown (2-3), Billy Johnson (0-2), Billy Siegel (2-3-1), and George Soares (3-4) doing the bulk of the hurling. Combined with a team batting average of .270 made for a somewhat disappointing season. There were some individual stars, of course. Leading the club in batting was Jack Lucido, who also earned the tenth player award, with an average of .355. Other batters with an average over .300 were Chris Roellke (.345), Matt Logan (.340), Pat Burke (.325) and Steve Harkenrider (.318). Matt Logan received honorable mention on the All-Cape Cod Times team, while Pat Burke was named to the second team of the Times team. Sparkplug Ed Hutchinson was the recipient of the Senior Award.

The proud possessors of the only undefeated season in 1981-82 athletics at Dennis-Yarmouth Regional High School is the golf team. Coach Dick Fairman's linksmen ended up their season with a perfect 16-0 record. This obviously gave then the SMC league championship as well as the state south sectional championship. As there were no state finals held because of Proposition 2 ½, the Division I finals held at the Segregansett Country Club determined the state title. As D-Y won the event by an amazing 25 strokes in medal play, where the 4 best scores of the six competing players are totaled, D-Y became the state champs. Steve Donnelly, a senior, won the event with a score of 74 and fellow senior Ollie Hallet scored a 75. They were the only two players out of the fourteen competing schools to break 80. In addition Ollie Hallet won the title of Cape Cod Individual High School Champion with scores of 74-78=152. Steve Donnelly finished second with a score of 157. Also Debbie Davis won the girls state individual trophy with a score of 81. Truly an outstanding season for a remarkable group of golfers.

First year coach Paul Mennett's successful season of softball ended with an impressive record of 9 wins and 5 losses, just missing a berth in the state tournament. Save for a three game losing streak in the middle of the season, the team played a very consistent game of softball. The heartbreaker of that losing streak was a tough 6-5 loss to New Bedford, a team that the Lady Dolphins handled easily the first time the squads met on the diamond. Following those three losses though the girls showed their combative tendencies and bounced back to take decisive victories in their last four games of the season. Individual honors went out to three all around excellent athletes for D-Y. Kathy Flynn, Donna Andrews and Elaine Joyce were all named to the Hughes newspapers All-Star team. All three of these girls are juniors, and as Lorri Grayson is the only graduating senior letter winner, things are looking very good for the 1983 softball season at D-Y.

Coach Frank Fayne's boys tennis team compiled an excellent 12-4 record (9-3 in SMC league) on their way to placing second in the league and qualifying for the state tournament. In the tournament the tennis team advanced to the semifinals in the south sectionals before being eliminated. The team that gave the D-Y squad the most trouble was the same team that defeated the girls tennis team twice, Falmouth. D-Y lost to their Cape opponent twice, both matches being in their division. The only other divisional loss came at the hands of Bishop Stang, a squad that the D-Y racqueteers had handled earlier in the season.

Once again the leader of the D-Y team was Shaun Hassett. The senior advanced to the finals of the state (EMass) Individual Tournament held at New Seabury and was also voted the number one singles player in the SMC East conference. Shaun is a player who will be missed in next year's action, but hopefully the slack will be picked up by 1982 letter winners Michael Cooper, Blair Weigand, Richard Doucette, Paul Mitrokostas and Joe Burley as well as the rest of the competing squad.

GROOP'S GRIPPERS

With the absence of past coach Mr. Michael Bean, the 1982 girls tennis team was headed by interim coach Mrs. Priscilla Groop. The squad's see-saw season ended with a winning record of 7-6. The team was never able to put more than two victories together, but also never lost more than two matches in a row. The girls handled teams like long-time rival Barnstable twice during the season, but they lost to Falmouth twice. They defeated New Bedford twice and lost to Bishop Stang twice. Two wins against Sandwich, two losses to Dartmouth. And so it went.

The girls were led by senior letter winners Jennifer Andrews and Mary Coffey, Junior letter winners Carol Butler and Heidi Edmunds, sophomore winner Lori Mahler and freshman winner Amy Dowd. With the return of Coach Bean from his sabbatical and the return of quite a number of sophomores and juniors, things hopefully will be looking up for the 1983 tennis season.

The 1982 boys track team raced, jumped and threw their way to another winning season, combining their skills in a pleasing 7-3 record. By all rights the record should have been 8-2 but for some very questionable officiating in the Taunton match. First year coach Bill McWilliams referred to the use of "unfair tactics and outright cheating" by the Taunton coach and officials, but the record book still recorded the meet as a loss for D-Y. Nevertheless the season had many highlights, such as the first place showing in the D-Y Invitational. The tracksters competed against eleven other schools and won it in "a balanced team effort." Also the squad placed fourth in the league meet held at the end of the season, totaling 57 points.

The captain of the track team for the 1982 season was senior Ed Lowe who led the 48 man roster, 28 of whom were awarded letters for their efforts. Individual honors also went to junior Ken Andrews who ran to a first place finish in the League Championship Meet competing in the 400 meter race. Ken was also named to the All-SMC team. Tri-captains elected for next season are Dwight Porter, Ken Coyne and Ted Brennan.

The girls track team compiled one of the most impressive records in D-Y history. The final record of 11-1 (5-0 in SMC II conference) earned the squad the divisional championship and an overall seventh place in EMass class B. Led by SMC all-stars Kristen Lyons (voted squad MVP), Sue Hardy, Lisa Ryan, Abbie MacIssac, Mary Pease, Sue Falla, Michelle Pelletier and Erin McGuiness, the champs defeated ten straight rivals before losing to a tough Falmouth club 52-66.

Many new school records were set during the course of the season. Sue Hardy ('82) put the shot 39'1", Lisa Ryan ('82) threw the discus 120'2", and Sue Fall ('84) sprinted to an 11.9 second 100 yard dash. Also a new record was set in the 4x100 meter relay by Sue Falla, Michelle Pelletier, Erin McGuinness and Mary Pease (two seniors and two freshmen) with a record time of 51.9 seconds. Truly a remarkable season for a remarkable group of athletes.

KEY CLUB

The Big Brother-Big Sister and the Key Club organizations are two examples of D-Y students getting involved to help those in need. Both clubs have always attracted a large number of students. The Big Brother-Big Sister group meets once a month with their advisors for general discussions, and once a week with their little brother or sister. The year 1982 saw 70 matches take place where a high school student takes a younger child under his or her wing. The older students develop and plan their own activities on an individual basis. The Key Club is a service club sponsored by the Kiwanis of Hyannis and they give aid to various charities and fundraisers, all under the leadership of Mrs. Julia Johnson.

MARCHING BAND

D-Y's marching band was particularly active this year, gearing up for their cross-country trip-of-a-lifetime to California. Performing throughout the summer the band returned to D-Y in September ready to tackle their lofty financial and performance goals.

Two other components of the marching band that add color to the overall show are the varsity and JV majorettes. Use of various equipment, twirling ability and smiles all add to the charm that a good majorette squad can bring to a routine. The long hours of practice it takes to be an outstanding twirler are reflected in the performance that Ms. Ann Bohlin's girls attain to make the show a spectacular one.

MARCHING BAND

The highlight of the marching band's year was the trip to perform in the Rose Bowl Parade on New Year's Day in Pasadena. The band spent a week on the west coast practicing, sightseeing, and enjoying themselves as they visited such places as Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, Universal Studios and the San Diego Zoo. Everyone involved worked very hard to make this dream trip a reality and made everyone back home proud of their accomplishments.

MARCHING BAND

Accompanying the band to California was Ms. Beth Hirons of TV Channel 11, who documented the trip in a show entitled "One Hundred Thousand Roses." For her efforts, Beth won national recognition for a documentary. The film is one that brings back many memories to those who made the trip, a week that they will remember all their lives.

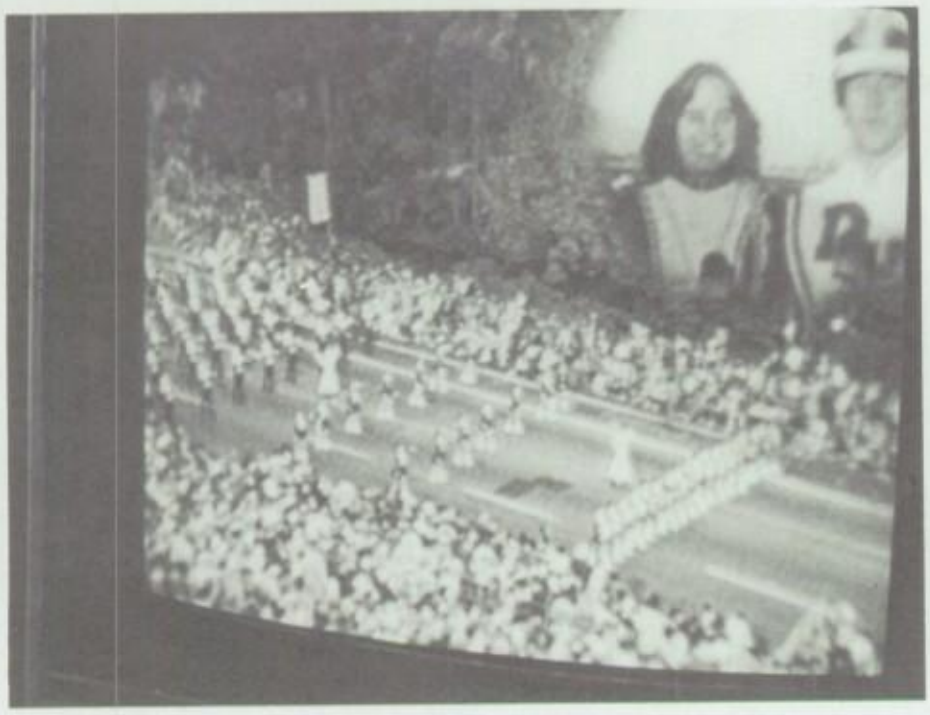
MARCHING BAND

MARCHING BAND



The culmination of the California trip was the band's participation in the Tournament of Roses Parade. The band was awakened at 3:30 A.M. to begin the day's preparations. Heavy rains greeted the early risers, but that did not dampen anyone's spirits. The loading of busses and the ride to Pasadena were handled without a hitch. Escaping the rain by waiting in the busses until it was time to line up was even exciting. Finally the parade was to begin and as D-Y's marching band moved out, the sun broke through the clouds and the 5½ miles of sky high excitement were under way. Playing four songs for the entire parade, the D-Y band was "tuned well, well-disciplined and better prepared than any other in the parade," said band director Frank Fuller.

SKI CLUB

The Dolphin Ski Club once again had an active season thanks to the leadership and guidance of Mr. Bill Booker. The club journeyed to Pat's Peak NH, Sunday River ME, Saas Fee Switzerland, and Loon/Cannon NH. In NASTAR competition Paul Cunningham won a silver and a bronze medal while Rob Welsh took home three bronze. At the annual dinner in May, seniors Jeff Giunta and Anastasia Welsh were named male and female skiers of the year and sophomore Linda Perrino was named most improved skier.

WINTER GUARD

LOOKING BACK

The 1958 Nautilus pointed to these cheerleaders (left) as having "gone a long way towards building up the spirit and morale of our athletic teams. They work industriously several afternoons a week to gain enthusiastic motions and cheers."

Mr. Charlie Corkum (below left) advises this 1968 group of Future Teachers which included D-Y faculty member Mrs. Julia Johnson.

The math department of 1969 included Mr. Tim Butler, Mr. Russel Grander, Mr. Roger Foster, Mr.Peter Barca, and Mr. Stan Daggett (above). Only Mr. Foster has left the D-Y ranks, but five and a half more teachers have been added to the department.

Mathematics teacher, Mr. Stanley M. Daggett (above) began teaching at Yarmouth High School in 1953. Receiving numerous yearbook dedications and acknowledgements, Mr. Daggett has been at the high school longer than any other faculty member.

FACULTY

Over ten percent of the faculty graduated from D-Y. Alumni Harrison ('68), Coogan ('62), Francis ('65), Stead ('65), and Colby ('64) judge a spirit contest at a fall rally. Missing are alumni Angus ('68), Daigle ('66), Johnson ('68), Ryan ('65), and Wherity ('57).

D-Y allows, in certain instances, students to graduate at the end of three or three and one-half years. Students who plan to pursue a program leading to early graduation make this known, in writing, to their counselors at least one year before their desired graduation date. Listed below are the twenty-nine students who took advantage of this opportunity.

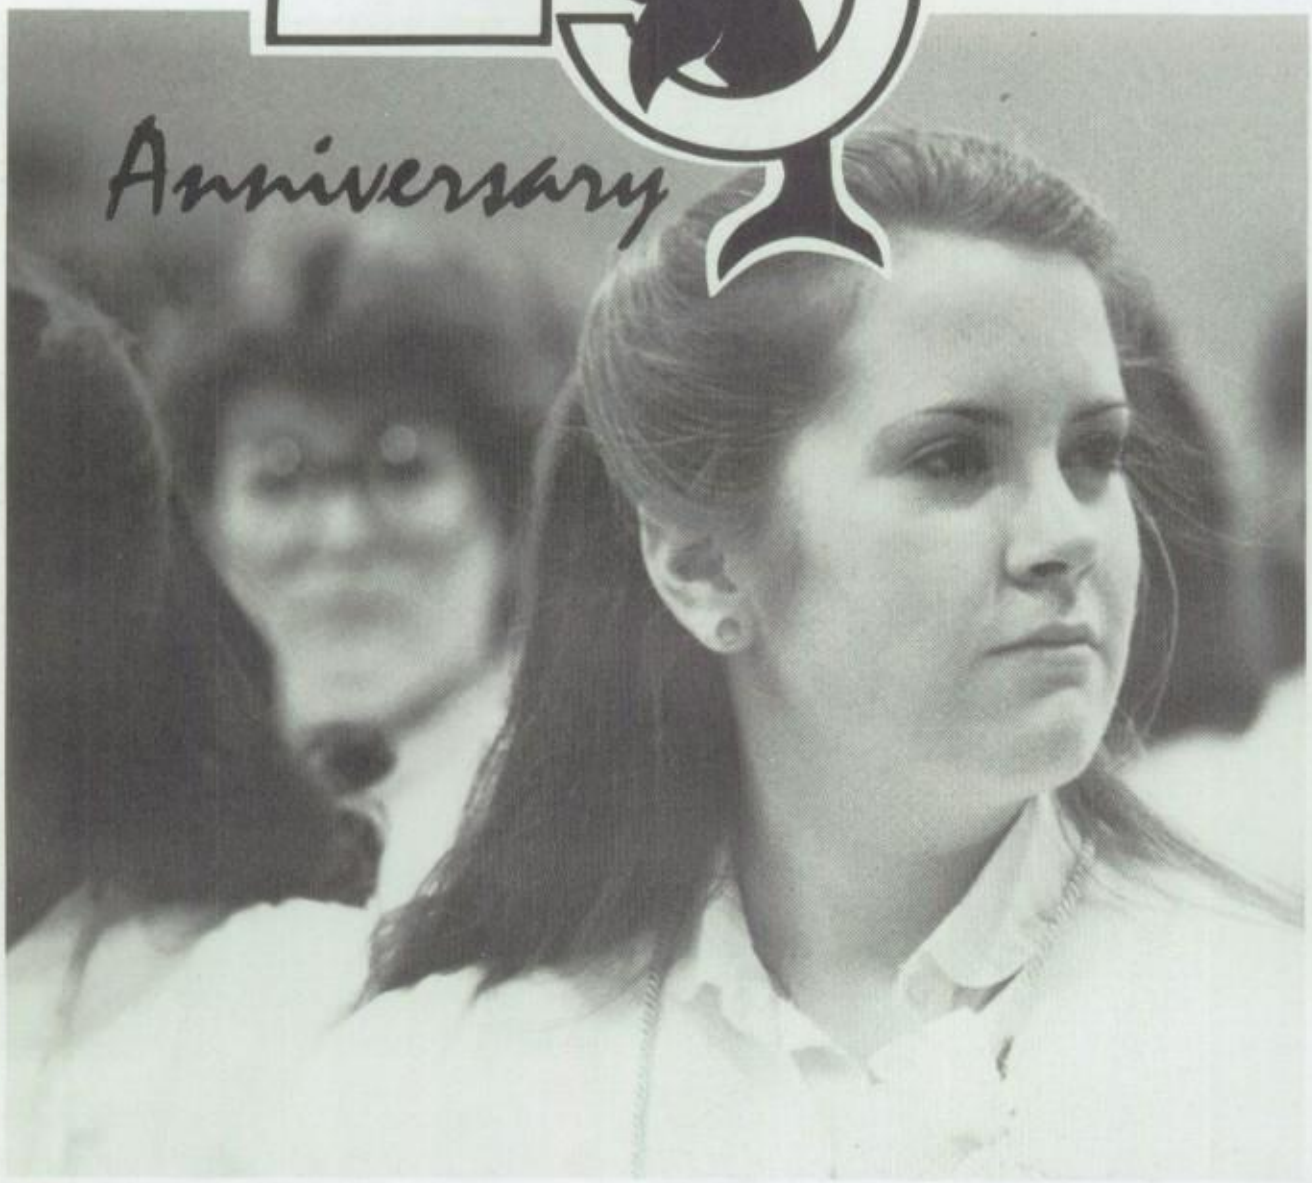
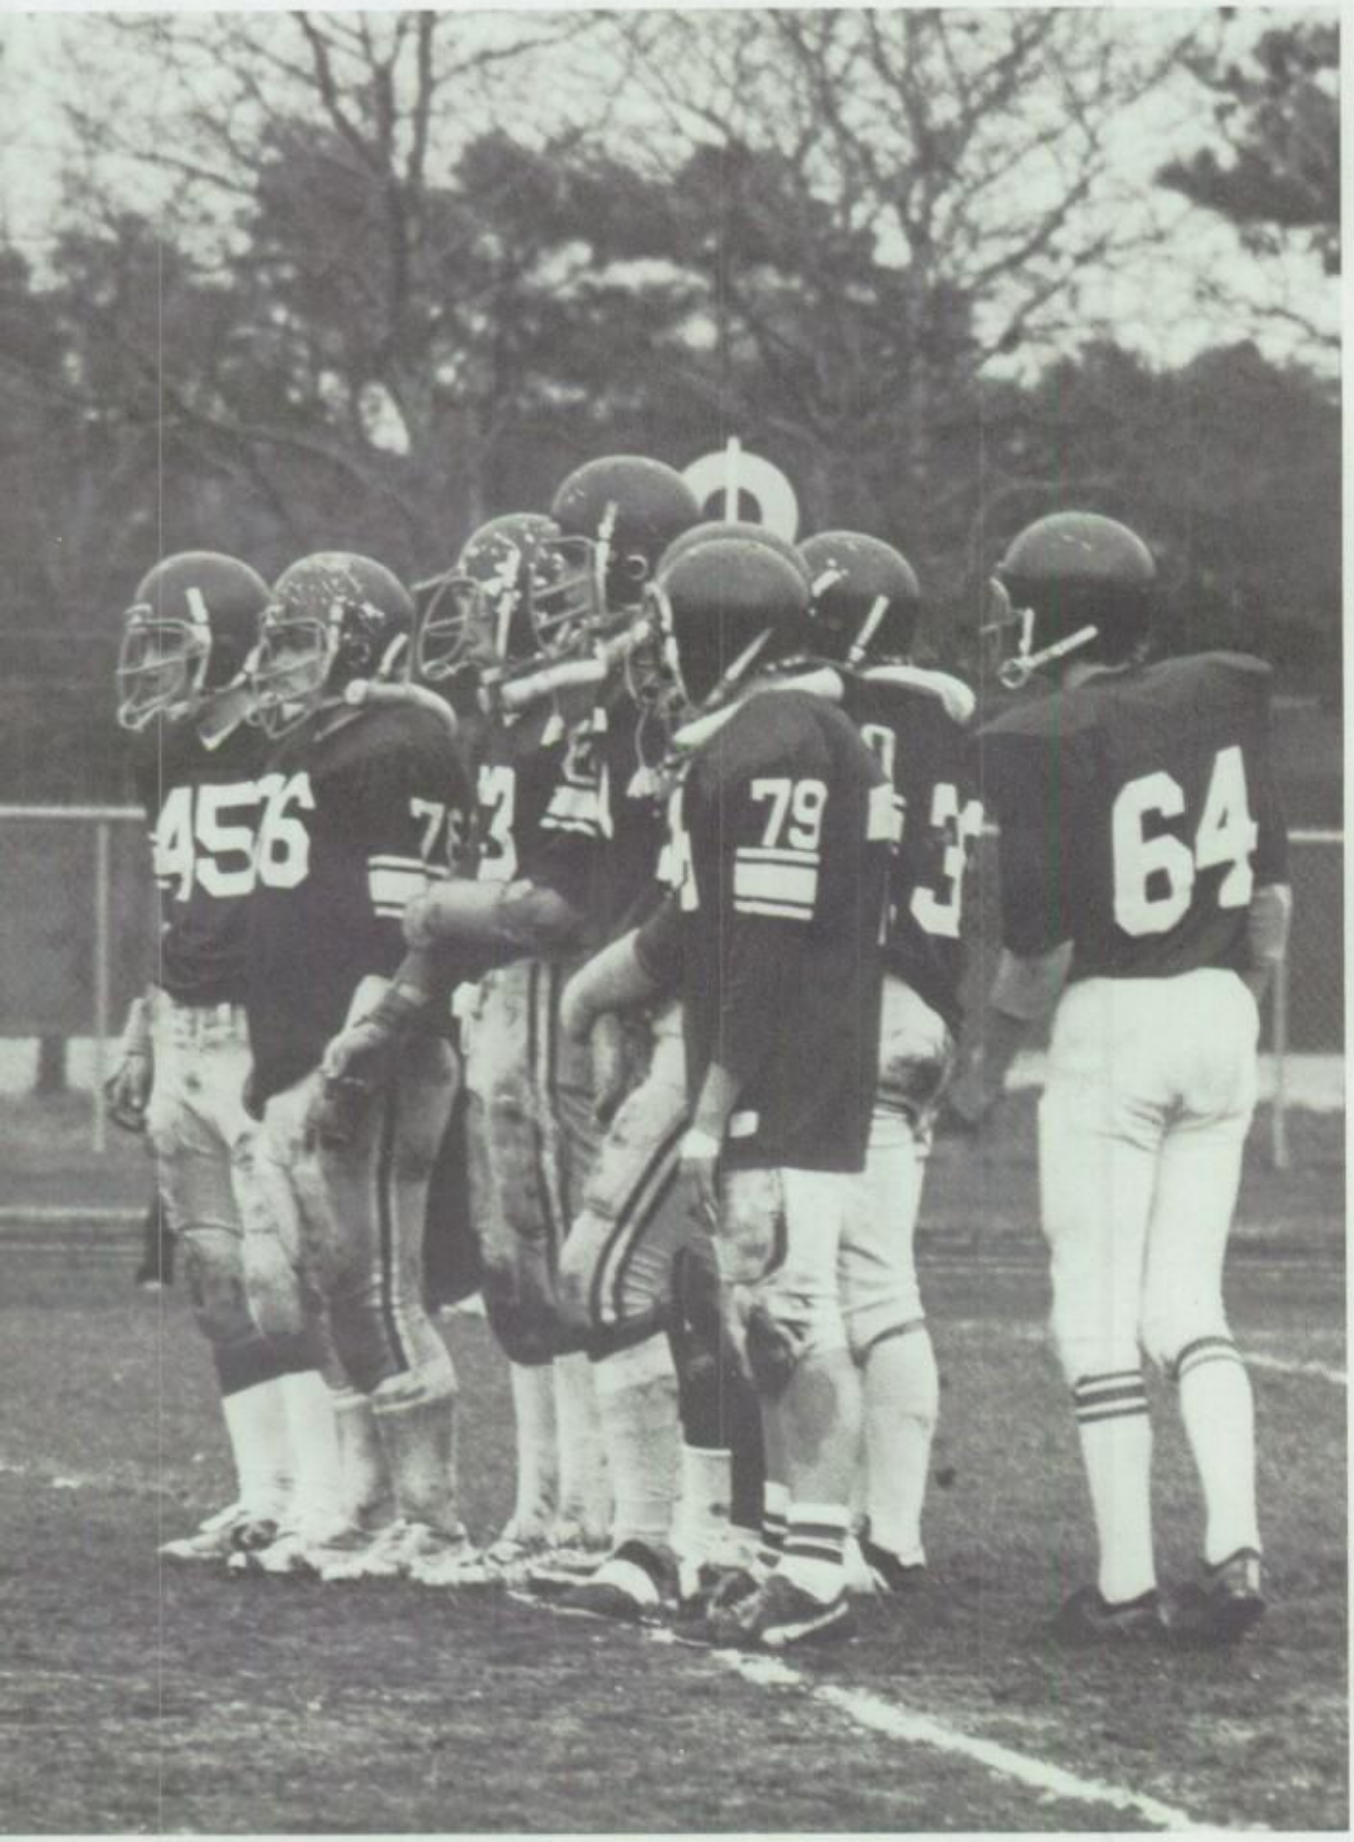
25th Anniversary





As we look back on D-Y's past we come to realize that what we do today are soon-to-be memories and that there is so much more to which we can look forward.
